MARINE INTELLIGENCE.

THE GREAT MALLEY TRIAL,

ALL THREE OF THE ACCUSED ACQUITTED OF THE CHARGE OF MURDER.

Mr. Docitités Pinal Effort Judge Granger's Charges Not Guilty "Seenes in the Court Room—The Jay of the Malley Cousines Blanche Again Adril on a Cold World.

Nyw HAVEN, June 39.—At the news that Harturd land won the boat race, the del class on the Green seemed to bow their heads in sorrow, Merchant; knwyers, and hack drivers wore gloony laces. But there was no lack of interset in the Malley trial. By break of day persens were in line at the doors of the Court House availing admission. At 9:30 the crush was breited and the Court House availing admission. At 9:30 the crush garyan of lacet. His presentment was powerful. Twice was counsel for defence sturg into a reily. At its close Mr. Jones for the first disable the trial began, insisted on having the hard. All the lands of the lady, the court of the court with the court of the court with the court of the cou nussle. Mr. Doolittle resumed by trying to dispose of the complaint that all the body had not been analyzed in the search for arsenic. It had been transfused throughout the body by the blood. It flowed equally in all ports of the body. You can't believe that the arsenic happened to be only in those parts of the body analyzed. Authorities show that the stomach was not infamed because the arsenic had been taken in the last of the poison according to the nerves, sometimes producing paraiysis. This explained Jennie Cramer's shout. My God, I'm paraiyzed," while she was riding the flying horses. At that very moment the insidious paison was coursing through her vein. Wherever she died her eves were closed, her hands were folded, and her body was conveyed to the shore, where the rising tide rolled it on the beach. All this was done to conceal the crime.

Mr. Doolittle them defended Dr. Chittenden. The testimony of an expert had sent Dr. Lameson to the gallows, who used a far more subtle poison than arsenic, and before his death the condenned man had acknowledged that the expert was right. Dr. Chittenden's apparatus was here. He had shown his method, and no man could point to a flaw in ft. Under a promise of proving it afterward the State had insinuated that Undertaker Stahl had Washburn's solution in his establishment. It was a false issue, calculated to give the jury the impression that in the autopsy some of the organs might have been saturated with this arsenical solution. They offered no proof that Stahl had any such solution in his establishment. The very board on which the remains were placed had never been used before. The utnost care was used for complaint.

After recapitulating the evidences of conspiracy in the letters written to the gir, and in the importation of Miss Douglas from Lizzie Bundy's establishment, the District Attorney passed to her entrapment at the Mailey mansion. True to the Mailey instinct, the cousins wanted to get her as chean as they could. There was revery, nusic, and loud faughter in th

Banche went down to Savid he sanford Point.
Hight after their return from Branford Point.
Walter had prepared that dose of arcenic, and he wanted to see how if operated.
If they had a plan to kill the girl," broke in Mr. Jones, "and Walter wanted to see how it was executed, what would he be hanging around railroad grove for?"
De you want to argue the case again?" Mr.
little replied. He said that the lestimony he cook, Anna Clerkin, was not enough to blish an altbi for Walter. Where were the hman and the chambermaid who testified at West Haven? Why were they not called by at West linven? Why were they not caried by the defence.

Here Mr. Jones again protested. The trouble was, Mr. Doedittle continued, that originally a different alibi was prepared. He sailed the jury's attention to the signature. J. Cramer in the register of the hotel at Branford Point.

"Compare it with the envelopes of the letters addressed to Jennie Cramer by Waiter Malley." He said, and you will see at once that they are in the same handwriting. The formation of the "J." and the long stanting tail to the "r. could only have been made by the same hand. They were peculiarities that could not have accidentally been duplicated. The "J. Cramer" was put on the register by Waiter Mailey after the girl's death. He could not register it next to the register of his own and Miss Douglas's name, because the names of three gentlemen from Birmingham intercened so he placed it after their names. Your own eyes, proper, will show you this. It is an admission by Waiter Mailey after Jonnie Cramer was alive on Friday night. He intended to say that she was at Branford Point with Bianche and himself that night, and that they took her home and left her there. The programme, however, was afterward changed.

Another significant fact was Blanche's wheresbeates on Friday night. No one had accounted showed no alibi for her, succide and seduction theory was intromerely to shield the necused. The ce of mushrooms in the dead girls had been presented as an evidence that d on Thursday night. It is based on sumption that she ate nothing after lay morning. The mushrooms would sen digested within six hours. One is certain: she ate the mushrooms between the house of the state of the same time that she er stomach at the same time that she exceberries found there, and the ked-de check shows that she ate no huckleberries thursday morning. She was with Waiter at same restaurant that night, and ale no throoms. The inference that she ate them Friday and that the accused knew where got them is plain. Mr. Doolittle closed by the first and that the accused were instrumental in ading the girl to commit suicide they might cond guilty of manslaughter.

The last remark brought Sam Jones to his last remark brought sam Jones to his last remark brought sam Jones to his like their to controver the statement, but desisted at the request of Judge Granger began to work is charge. The eyes of the accused were on the the controver the statement of the upon him. Half the spectators were on the test. You could have heard a pin drop, said that the accused were not on trial for each with murder in the first degree. It alleged that the murder was done by the limitization of areache by one or all of the used. The law requires that the murder at the proved by two witnesses. The law tantamount to two witnesses. The law has be proved by two witnesses, or by what fantamount to two witnesses. The law resumes the accused innocent until key are proved guilty. If guilty, they are proved guilty of manslaughter, but murder in the first degree. The ry must be satisfied of their guilt beyond a massimalistered by the accused, the fact carries makes better that the arsenic as aliministered by the accused, the fact carries makes prepense with it. They must first a satisfied beyond a reasonable doubt that rath was caused by arsenic. If they had any wast about it they were bound to give the risoners the benefit of the doubt. If the girl as illustrated by arsenic, the jury must ascertain did the case. If it is found that she came to be death by arsenic the jury must ascertain bother it was administered by the accused, and itso when, where and for what purpose, he evidence was purely circumstantial. Such indende must allegerseprod and point in one rection. If it is susceptible of any other examation, there must be an acquittal. Every let must be clearly established and satisfactority proved. If thus proved, then it has facts grouped together must a lantamount to the testimony of two witchess. In proving an alibit the burden of food is on the accused. If clearly and satisfacts on the accused. If clearly and satisfacts is an aliministic of the decision of food is on the accused. If clearly and satisfacts is an aliministic of the decision of food is on the accused. If clearly and satisfacts is a lantamount to the testimony of two witches.

The situation in this city had not materially changed vesterday. Deputy Attorney-General Kesier obtained yesterday from Judge Donohue, in the Supreme Court, an order directing the New York, Lake Eric and Western and the New York Central and Hudson River Raitroad Companies to show cause on Friday next why a mandamus should not issue to compel them to do their whole duty toward the public as common carriers. The order was granted upon affidavits made by Francis B. Thurber and a number of other merchants setting forth that the railway companies have unnecessarily delayed the carrying of freight entrosted to them and have caused great linjury to the mercantile interests of the public.

The committee appointed by the Board of Trade and Transportation to visit representatives of the trunk lines of railroads and protest against the increase in freight rates which is to take effect to-day, met yesterday in Pool Commissioner Fink's office. Mr. Fink told the committeemen that the report of the committee of the Board of Trade and Transportation—which pointed out that, while the increase of pay demanded by the freight handlers would amount to only about two cents a ton, the increase in freight rates would be $2.40 a ton—was made on the basis of the rates prevailing during the last six months, which were the result of a foolish war of rates. The proper basis of comparison, he said, was the rates that existed before that war—about 70, 60, 50 and 40 cents a ton to Chicago—and the rates to go into effect to-day range from 60 to 25 cents a ton for the same distance. The members of the committee asked questions, to which Mr. Fink made replies in behalf of the roads, and J. J. White read a protest against rebatoes and other grievances as regards East bound freight. In reply to a remark made by one of the committee and then followed suit. The committee will meet again.

-HARVARD WINS THE RACE.

Another Victory for the Stendy Swing and Perfect Time of the Crimson. NEW LONDON, June 30.-The Crimson cored another victory over the Dark Blue this morning, and thus, in a series of seven eight-cared university rowing matches, Harvard won the rubber. Harvard at one time had several lengths' lead, but a tremendous spurt of Yale on the last half mile brought her past the finish only three and a half seconds after Harvard, making it a closer race even than that of last year, and the closest race the two colleges have ever rowed, though the time last year was 2% seconds quicker.
